THE NEW YORK SUN.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 12 1859.

An Italian correspondent of the Independent, says that ever since the battle of Magenta, the French army has lost confidenc ein the Emperor National as a general, on account of what took place on that day. The correspondent says:—

I have the fact on the best authority, from a Captain of the Staff, who related it to me recently, in the presence of six other officers, returning, like himself, from Solierino, and who conditined his statements, which were as follows: "You remander," he said, "that famous order of the day, and the telegram to the Empress after Magenta? He said: 'A division of the Imperial Guard has covered itself with glory! For a whole day it has sustained the shock of forty thousand Austrians, etc. Now, how do you explain that on the morrow, MoManer, who had come only as the end of the day, received all the honors of it, and was made Duke of Magenta and Field Marsha! "Why," said I, "it was on account of the timely help he brought to the victorious but exhausted Guard." Not in the least," replied the capta n, "et wold comme en cerie l'histoire! I was there, and I can tell you what nobedy will dare to publish in France, though it is as true as the Gospel. When the famous order of the day concerning the Guards became known among the first corps, MacManon's, a great irritation prevailed, amounting almost to rebellion. Since all the glory is always given to the corps chitri, (they call thus the priviaged Guarda,) is them fight alone! we will not do anything more!" Early in the morning MacManos, sharing the anger of his addicts, went to the Emperor and told him in what state of mind his troops were, charging him with injustice to wards those who had, in fact, won the battle, and saved him (the Emperor) from the greatest danger. Natorano was surprised. "What have you done?" said he to MacManos, why did you come so late, after I sent you so many orders to come to Magenta." MacManos, that he bulk of the Austrian army in order to reach Magenta, and finally, that His Malesty had made the enormous blunder of taking for the whole battle that which he had witnessed, and which was only an episode, and the least part of it! It was then, in order to Narothon as a general, on account of what took p'ace on that day. The correspondent says :-

Horr ble Massacre of Indiane.

Herr ble Massacre of Indians.

We, last week, says the Plumas (California)
Argus of Cctober 1st, published an account of a terrible massacre that occurred on Pitt River, in which it appeared that one band of Indians attecked and destroyed another. This was an error. The Indians killed were a band of the Pitt River tribe, and were attacked in their rancheria
by a company of whites known as the Pitt River Company, an organization acting without authority of any kind, a lawless, reckless set of desperadose. Our informant, Mr. Harry Landy, acting as guide to Gen. Kuns, was on the ground soon after the foul murder was committed, and estimates the number killed at ninety, ten of whom were warriors, the balance women and children. He depicts the scene as most horrible; bodies mutilated and half burned, were strewn over the ground; iffly of the victims laying in sight from one stand point. Gen. Kans, as we gather from Mr. Lardy's report, on reaching the scene of action, in the course he pursued, made but little improvement on the acts of the blood thirsty wretches who preceded him. Having captured two infants, he ordered them taken out in view of the Indians, and, through promises of protection and kind usage, and the anxiety to procure the children, persuaded two warriors to come into his camp; fair promises were made these men, and through them an invitation extended to the tribs to meet him the next day for a 'big talk," and a feast. On the next day the same men, accompanied by one of the chiefs of the tribs, visited the camp of the Americans, and failing to come to any terms, were detained when they attempted to leave, contrary to express stipulations, and when, on discovering the bed faith of the whites, they attempted to make their escape, two of them were shot down, the chief being retaken. Mr. L. further informs us that the next day the re-captured chief very readily came to terms. We presume that when he fails to comply with the terms that may be diotated to him by his white conquer r

The U. S. steam-gunbost Mohiean, at Portsmouth, N.M. has undergone a preliminary trial, and will sail for the coast of Africa in a week of two. She will take out a mail in which letters will be forwarded to the San Jacinto, Portsmouth, Constellation, Mystic, Sumpter and Marion, if sent grails to the Charlestown Mayy Yard. As the Vinconnee has been ordered home, nething should be dispatched to her. The U. S. steamer Narragansett is about to make a trial-trip from Bosteo.—If successful, the will be reported ready for sea to the Department, and sail immedately to join Commodore Morrosonerv's fleet on the Pacific. Advices from the East Indies Squadron state that the officers and crews of vesses to on the station were suffering from opthalmia. The United States men-of-war had very few cases, but some of the British vessels were fearfully sifficted with it. No less than 200 names figured on the sick list of H. M. S. Cheapeake, victims to this severe disease. The U. S. steam-sloop Richmond, the only one of the new steamers not yet launched, will, it is said, be floated out of the ship-house in a few weeks. The gun-hoat, Dacotah, is progressing gradually, and will be finished about New Year's. Several letters from the U. S. sloop St. Mary's of the home squadron contradict the report that sickness provisions and stores for the United States Squadron on the Pacific and Home Stations. The death of the sailor who was so cruelly punished on board the corvette Brookly n is only the natural consequence of a sys em of discipline not regulated by any explicit law or order. Gega double irons, handcuffs, "sweat boxes," and other instruments of forture are put on board every national ship, but unless the surgeon interferes—which ho is often afraid to do—the Commander may use them just as his nature dictates. There is no specific time or method laid down; the Captain rules supreme.

Barning of a Railroad Bridge.

A large bridge of the Central Railroad Company, on the direct route to Syracuse (near Lyous) was burned at about three o'clock Wednesday morning. This bridge crosses Mud Creek or Clyde River, just east of Lyons Station, and it is more than one hundred feet long. The Rechester Union says:—It had just been repaired and put in first rate order for the winter, It is an important bridge and its loss will be quite embarrassing to the Company now when there is so much freight moving. The Cincinnati Express and Emigrant Trains met at Lyons at 2:15 A. M., and had passed but a short time before the bridge was discovered in flames. It is presumed that the fire caught from a sı ark from one of the locomotives of these trains. As soon as the fire occurred intelligence was sent to Syracuse and Rochester, and the trains of the direct road were ordered discontinued, or to be turned upon the old road, via. Auburn. The freight trains will run over the Auburn road until a permanent bridge can be rebuilt. Barning of a Ratirond Bridge.

The Schiller Festivals.

The Schiller Festivals.

In other cities, especially in the West, where the German element abounds, the memory of SCHILLER was duly honored. In Philadelphis, on Wednesday evening, a grand torchlight procession took place. The Penesylvanian, of the 10th, says:

During the passage of the procession, the streets were filled with spectators, the larger portion, of course, being Germans. In the portions of the city mainly inhabited by Germans, transparencies were exhibited, many of them displaying much taste in their preparation. The German Music Hall, near the place from which the line started, had a remarkably handsome display of transparencies, fireworks, dec. The City Hotel of Mr. Germanb, opposite the Hall, was also brilliantly illuminated. The most splendth display, as the procession moved along, was first at the Action-Brewery, Turner Hall, Ton Hall and the office of the Philadelphia Democrat. At the latter was exhibited a large and beautful transparency, by ig a striking likeness of Schiller, executed by Mr. He massram, one of our ablest artists; and while the procession was passing, there was also a brilliant display of freeworks. In addition, we noticed in Third street, a beautful triumphal arch, at the establishment of Mr. Praesan, with the name of Schillars Miller Presse, at Fourth and Willow streets, had three admirably executed transparencies, one a portrait of Schillars within a laurel weath; the second fillus-Presse, at Fourth and Willow streets, had three admirably executed transparencies, one a portrait of Somling within a laurel wreath; the second illustrating the "Song of the Bell"—a group discoursing about the bell—one of Souliners more famous lyries, and the third depicted the immortal scene in which William Trail shot the spile from the head of his son. The hotal of Mr. Milliam, and the establishment of Mr. Guranuser were spiendidly illuminated; but a special point of attraction was the book establishment of Mr. Konins at the northwest corner, and Mr. Henneur at the southeast corner, of Fourth and Race streets, both of which were magnificently illuminated and edorned with a variety of beautiful transparencies.

The precession in its passage through the streets attracted great attention, and at various other points there were attractive displays of transparencies, frewerks, &c. It eccupied about three quarters of an hour in passing any given point, and was, on the whole, a most imposing and magnificent display. The procession preceded over the designated route to the Academy of Music, where the faggots were thrown on a beap in the open lot adjoining the Academy building.

Minnesota Items.

Trappers are preparing their traps to trap during the ensuing winter. Trapping is good business in some parts of Minnesota. The prospects are that furs will bring a good price.

Several bands of the Dakotas are now encamped in various parts of the State, and are engaged in a fierce s'aughter of the deer. They are scattered along the Minnesota and Upper Mississippi rivers. The Indians are becoming very troublesome in Jackson and Martin counties (the Spirit Lake country) on the extreme south-western frontier of the State, and the lives of the settlers there are endangered. A remnant of the Inkpa-du-tah band are prowling around, committing every species of depredations on the settlers, and threatening their lives in case of resistance.

The General Congregational Conference of Minnesota was held in Winona week before last, and was well attended. It was stated that there are in the State, 47 Congregational churches, 30 of which have ministers. During the past year 10 new Cnurches have been organized, and 400 new members added—170 of whom joined the society upon profession of faith.

The boats will draw but about ten inches of water, and he thinks he can at all times obtain that depth.

A Cenductor on a Cow-catcher.

Our readers will doubtless recollect reading a thrilling incicent, published by us some time since, of an engineer, upon some western railroad, having crawled down upon the cow-catcher of the engine and saving a child, who was playing upon the road, from destructior, by throwing it off the track. An incident of precisely similar nature, and displaying as much heroism, occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad last Friday, the particulars of which we gather from the Holidayaburgh Standard.

As one of the freight trains coming east rounded a sharp curve, near Barre Siding, a station about twelve miles west of Huntingdon, the engineer saw a small child sitting in the middle of the track, playing, unconscious of its danger. He instantly whistled down brakes and reversed his engine, but the weight of the train and the high speed at which it was running rendered it impossible to stop the fore reaching the child, which must inevitably have been crusted to death. In this emergency, when most men would have stood pacalyzed with horror, the conductor of the train, Daniel. McCov, with steadiness of nerve that has few parallels, ran to the front of the engine, crawled down on the cowcotcher, and holding himself with one hand, leaned as far forward as possible, and as he approached the child, with a sweeping blow of the other he threw it off the track. It was the work of an instant, and required a steady hand and cool head to accomplish it, but he was equal to the emergency. The train was immediately stopped, and on going back the child was found lying at the foot of a small embankment, some twenty or thirty feet from the track of the road, alive and kicking, but somewhat stunned and bruised. The child belonged to a farmer named Napper, residing immediately along the road.

A New Difficulty in Indiana Divorces.

An important case under our divorce laws, says the Howard County (Indiana) Tribusa, has been decided by Judge Buckles, of that circuit. The case briefly was this: Mr. William Hoffman, of New York city, came to Kokoma in April, 1857, filed a complaint, procured publication of notice to his wife Emm., and on the 5th of June obtained a decree of divorce. On the 23d of October, 1858, his divorced wife filed a complaint demanding that the divorce be annulied, on the ground that it had been fraudulently procured, her husband not being a resident of Howard County, but of New York city, and that she had no information of the proceedings till long after the decree was made. Afteriong examination of the timony and a very full and able argument, Judge Buckles decided that Hoffman was not a resident of the county at the time of his filing his divorce complaint, and sat saide the decree granting it. Thus Mr. Hoffman found himself a married man in unpleasantly short meter. This case may give the public abroad to understand that divorces are not so easily obtained in this State as they used to be. Under the old law any resident, to commence a divorce suit and carry it through, as in case, without his wife ever knowing it, he had only to swear to a lie—that is, to his bonafide residence here. Now the law requires the applicant to be a resident actually, and to have been for a jear, before he can begin a suit at all. Non-resident rebels against matrimonial laws will do well to cut this paragraph out, and save themselves the expense of a journey to Indiana to get a divorce. The good time for all that class of people is over in this State.

An official census, taken in China, twice during the present century, at an interval of forty years, gives the following results: The first, taken in 1812, by order of the emperor Kta Kiso, gave the number of inhabitants at 360.-219,597; and the second, in 1852, under the reign and by order of the present emperor Birn Found, 536 690.300.
